

Since yesterday's briefing there have been several more incidents to report which I didn't want to leave until the next edition.

Longtown

Another case of sheep worrying has been reported this morning at the same farm as in previous occasions. This time, two dogs were seen in the field chasing the sheep but they were some distance away there is no description on this occasion. Before they could be caught up with they ran off, leaving one sheep injured.

Another repeat victim in the village, this time for theft of red diesel from a tank in an isolated field, the same location as before. This has happened in the last 48 hours, between 20 - 40 gallons have been taken.

Peterchurch

A suspicious vehicle has been reported to us this morning by a farmer just outside the village. At around noon, a silver Isuzu twin cab truck drove into the farmyard and the driver asked if there was any straw to buy. He had a slight Welsh accent and had a female and child in the truck with him. The only details of the registration is that it was an X registration - did the same truck visit your property today?

Rowlestone

38 unmarked Texel ewe lambs were stolen from a field between Rowlestone and Walterstone Common overnight last night, probably between 4am and 6am. The gate to the field was left open and the rest of the flock were found nearby. There was evidence of a vehicle having stopped near the gate, and fresh sawdust was left in the road, presumably from the rear of the lorry that they were taken in.
